The Middle East is running out of water, and parts of it are becoming uninhabitable