Written by Jacob Chacko Kallara
Tuesday, 30 June 2026 11:13

"But your iniquities have separated you from your God; and your sins have hidden His face from you, so that He will not hear." - Isaiah 59:2 "He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." - John 3:18 Sin separates us from our holy God and draws us into the territory of Satan. Our world drifts deeper into darkness, and many follow the passions and corrupt desires of their hearts. Yet God has not abandoned us to our condition. Knowing our helplessness and weakness, He Himself paid the price for the sin of all who will believe. Our iniquities have cut us off from God, but the Son of God has reconciled us to the Father through His sacrifice. The Gospel of John teaches plainly that whoever believes in the Lord Jesus will not be condemned in his sin, but will receive everlasting life in the Son of God. Praise the Lord!